

Go on a Search for Insects Outside

Butterflies are not the only insects that transform. In fact, all insects do! Go for a walk outside as a class to discover the insects that live near your school. Look under rocks, in grass, in bushes, and in the air. How many different types of insects can you find? What stages of the life cycles of these insects could you identify.

What insects were you able to find outside? Describe the insects you saw.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Draw your insect. If you have a microscope draw what you see under the microscope.