

Albert Einstein was always asking questions and wondering about the world around him. He loved to imagine what it would be like to ride on a beam of light or to travel through time. He helped us understand that the basic unit that makes up all light is something called a photon.

Meet the Photons

